Early Life

Joan of Arc was the daughter of a peasant farmer. She was a devout Catholic and had visions of angels and saints from a young age. In 1429, Joan heard voices telling her to lead the French army to victory over the English. She traveled to Chinon, where she met with the Dauphin Charles, who was the heir to the French throne. Charles was initially skeptical of Joan, but he eventually agreed to let her lead the army.

Military Career

Joan of Arc led the French army to a number of victories over the English, including the Battle of Orleans in 1429 and the Battle of Patay in 1430. She was a skilled military commander and her troops were inspired by her faith and courage. However, Joan's success was short-lived. She was captured by the English in 1430 and was burned at the stake as a heretic in 1431.
