That's why we've created The Complete Guide to Winning Law School Application Essays: Top 10 Dos and Don'ts. This book will teach you everything you need to know to write a winning personal statement, diversity statement, and why law school essay.

Top 10 Dos

1. Do start early. The earlier you start working on your essays, the more time you'll have to brainstorm, write, revise, and edit.
2. Do be yourself. Your essays should be a reflection of who you are and what you're passionate about. Don't try to be someone you're not.
3. Do tell a story. Your essays should be more than just a list of your accomplishments. They should tell a story about your life and why you're interested in law school.
4. Do use strong verbs. Verbs are the workhorses of your essays. Choose verbs that are active, vivid, and specific.
5. Do be concise. Your essays should be clear and concise. Don't ramble on for pages. Get to the point and make your point well.
6. Do proofread carefully. Before you submit your essays, proofread them carefully for errors in grammar, spelling, and punctuation.
7. Do get feedback. Ask friends, family, or a writing tutor to read your essays and give you feedback.
8. Do be confident. Believe in yourself and your ability to write a winning law school application essay.
9. Do relax. The law school application process is stressful, but it's important to relax and take some time for yourself.
10. Do have fun. Writing your law school application essays should be an enjoyable experience. Don't take yourself too seriously.

Top 10 Don'ts

1. Don't procrastinate. Starting early is key to writing a winning law school application essay.
2. Don't be afraid to ask for help. If you're struggling with your essays, don't be afraid to ask for help from friends, family, or a writing tutor.
3. Don't plagiarize. Plagiarism is a serious academic offense. Don't copy someone else's work and pass it off as your own.
4. Don't be negative. Your essays should be positive and upbeat. Don't dwell on your weaknesses or dwell on your defeats.
5. Don't be vague. Your essays should be specific and detailed. Don't use vague language or generalizations.
6. Don't be boring. Your essays should be interesting and engaging. Don't bore the admissions committee with a dry recitation of your resume.
7. Don't be vulgar. Your essays should be professional and respectful. Don't use vulgar language or offensive jokes.
8. Don't be presumptuous. Don't assume that the admissions committee knows anything about you or your experiences. Explain yourself clearly and concisely.
9. Don't be arrogant. Don't brag about your accomplishments or put down other applicants. Be humble and respectful.
10. Don't give up. Writing a law school application essay can be a challenging task, but it's important to persevere. Don't give up on your dreams.
